TRACK TEAM AT VIRGINIA.

Winners:

Lorando, mile, half, quarter.

Gill, two mile.

Sterrett, pole vault.

Nine of our athletes represented the University at Charlottesville last Saturday in the Southern intercollegiate, and acquitted themselves nobly though failing to carry off the coveted trophy, which went to the University securing the largest number of points. Virginia, our old rival, copped this by a good margin but when it is realized that they had thirty-four entries to our nine this is not hard to understand.

Lorando's showing was little short of remarkable. The doughty captain captured all three of the events in which he ran, with ease, hands down, defeating Virginia's cracks without seeming difficulty. His time for the half mile, 2.01, was remarkable considering the wind, and in the 440 yard dash and mile run also his marks were very fast. Gill took the two-mile run with Fleming second, and Sterrett captured the pole vault. Besides these points Whiting captured a couple of thirds. Gunning a fourth, Stuart a fourth, Wenderoth a third and Birney a fourth, completing a total of 38 points. Rector of Virginia hung up a mark of 9 4-5 in the hundred yard dash.

This will be the last appearance of the track team as a body during the present season, which has been a very successful one everything taken into consideration.

SUMMARY.

Intercollegiate — 100-yard dash. First, Rector, Virginia; second, Findley, Virginia; third, Ashby, Virginia. Time, 0.9 4-5.

220-yard dash—First, Rector, Virginia; second, Ashby, Virginia; third, Marbury, Virginia; fourth, Gunning, George Washington. Time, 0.22.

440-yard dash—First, Lorando, George Washington; second, Marbury, Virginia; third, Reed, Virginia. Time, 0.52 2-5.

BUILDING FUND GROWING.

The University Building Fund is slowly but surely climbing toward the $200,000 mark. A meeting of representatives from the University committee on buildings and endowments, and of the executive committee of the citizens and the alumni committee of the site fund campaign was held last Monday evening at the University. It was announced that the subscriptions to date amounted to over $138,000 and that the prospects were bright for obtaining the $200,000 required by the first of May.

Plans for the organization of an active campaign throughout all the States of the Union were also presented and acted upon favorably.

Subscriptions were announced as follows:

Previously acknowledged, $136,867.70; A. B. Hagner, $200; Miss Elizabeth M. Sharpe, $200; Miss M. Ida Thompson, $200; I. J. Baker, $100; Howard S. Nyman, $100; William G. Morgan, $100; Hannis Taylor, $100; D. J. Kaufman, $100; W. S. Washburn, $100; E. C. Rice, $50; Thomas L. Rust, $50; Mrs. Henry St. George Tucker, $50; James J. McEvelley, $50; A. P. Davis, $50; Miss Clella L. Stevens, $50; M. Ross Thompson, Jr., $50; Jesse H. Ramsburgh, $25; H. B. Rowland, $25; Archibald Hopkins, $10; Miss Margaret A. McMahon, $10; H. Otto Sommer, $5; Student fund (additional), $65; total, $138,587.70.

GEORGE WASHINGTON DEFEATS NORTH CAROLINA.

The Varsity signalized its return from the Southern trip by defeating North Carolina by a score of 7 to 6. The game was notable for the heavy hitting of both teams. Carr pitched, striking out 6, and while the visitors got 7 hits they were so scattered that they did not avail much. Four runs for the Tarheels were due to errors.

Campbell and Orrison did the heavy hitting, one of the former's being a clean triple, and one a double. Orrison and Stevenson also drew a triple each.

The score:
Geo. Wash. . . 12000040x-7
North Caro. . . 000002040-6

THE BEN GREET PLAYERS

In Shakespeare's Comedy

"Much Ado About Nothing"

For the benefit of the George Washington University Building Fund

D. A. R. CONTINENTAL HALL

TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 30, 8.15.

To be given under the auspices of the Pi Beta Phi Fraternity.

The appearance of Ben Greet and his company of English players in Shakespeare's comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing," in Elizabethan manner, on Tuesday evening, April 30, will be welcome news to the theatre-going public of Washington.

Mr. Greet and his company have made an everlasting impression in this city, and it is to be regretted that the management has been able to secure them for only one Shakespearean presentation, and it is unnecessary to emphasize the educational value of their plays.

Prices: $2.00, $1.50, $1.00, 75 cents, 50 cents.

Seats now on sale at T. Arthur Smith's, 1327 F street, in Sanders and Stayman's.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION ELECTION.

The annual election of officers of the Athletic Association will be held on Friday, May 3rd. Nominations may be made for the offices by dropping the names into THE HATCHET boxes, or mailing them to THE HATCHET. The election is open to all students in the University, and all are eligible to any of the offices. All nominations must be in by Monday night, April 29th, after which the names of the nominees will be posted and published. Ballot boxes will be open in all departments on May 3d for voting. The offices to be filled are, president, secretary, treasurer, vice-president, manager base ball team, manager track team, manager basket ball team.

Subscriptions are long past due. Do not wait for a bill, but send check to the Manager or drop into one of the boxes. Do this now.

CELEBRATION OF THE CLASSICAL CLUB.

DR. MUSTARD ON "ROMAN REMAINS IN SOUTHERN FRANCE."

The Classical Club of the George Washington University celebrated its seventh anniversary last Tuesday evening in University Hall at 8:30 o'clock. Professor Mitchell Carroll, the founder and president of the club, gave a brief sketch of its history and named many distinguished lecturers who had appeared at its anniversary exercises, among them being Professors Dyer of Oxford, Seymour of Yale, Kelsey of Michigan, Smith of Johns Hopkins, and Dr. George Horton, U. S. Consul General at Athens, and others. He also recounted the records of the members of the club who have already graduated. Dr. Carroll then introduced, as the guest of the evening, Dr. Wilfred P. Mustard, professor of Latin at Haverford College, and collegiate professor-elect at the Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Mustard gave an interesting lecture on "Roman Remains in Southern France," well illustrated by a large number of lantern slides. After the lecture an informal reception was held in the library and vocal selections were given by Miss Bethune, assisted at the piano by Miss Birch.

The lecturer said in part:

"My lecture begins with a brief sketch of the Roman occupation of ancient Gaul and then discusses an impressive group of Roman monuments situated on or near the lower course of the Rhone.

"At Arles may be seen a great stone amphitheatre, 500 yards in circumference; as well as the ruins of an ancient theatre, the remains of the Palace of Constantine and some traces of an old Roman cemetery, now known as the Aliscamps. At Glanum there is a small triumphal arch and the so-called Tomb of the Julii—two structures which seem to date from the Republican period, and are probably two of the oldest buildings standing in France. At Nimes there is another great amphitheatre, a little smaller than that of Arles, but in a much better state [CONTINUED TO PAGE 8.]

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

"Noah's Ark."

What may be considered the initial production of a new era of musical comedy is Clare Kummer's comical fantasy, "Noah's Ark," produced by the Lee-Rod Amusement Company, incorporated, which will begin an engagement at the New National Theater, this city, next week.

DeWolf Hopper in "Wang."

Marguerite Clark, certainly one of the quaintest, daintiest, and prettiest soubrettes that has been seen on the American stage in many years, will play the character of Mataya in De Wolf Hopper's "Wang," when the big musical production, Sam S. and Lee Shubert's famous Lyric Theater revival, comes to the Belasco Theater next week. Miss Clark has made a lasting reputation in the part, and has endeared herself to her audiences.

"The Gingerbread Man."

Although the management of "The Gingerbread Man," a farcical musical fairytale, which will be seen at the Columbia Theater next week, does not advertise an "all-star" cast, it might do so with far more reason than many of the managers who lure the public to shop-worn melodrama with this fetching phrase.

Mae Phelps, who plays Jack Horner, was prima donna of "The Prince of Pilsen" when this piece scored its sensational hit in New York three or four years ago.

"The Unmasking."

Chase's eight polite vaudeville numbers in next week's bill will be composed of Edwards Davis and company in the great dramatic success in two scenes, entitled "The Unmasking," and presenting a stage upon the stage, with an exciting sword combat and denouement. Jolly Fannie Rice, the former comic opera star. Chris Bruno and Mabel Russell, in "The Insurance Agent." The Otto brothers, German language torturers, and other excellent features.

FIRST ANNUAL DINNER OF THE COLLEGE WOMEN OF WASHINGTON.

"For the furtherance of better acquaintance among college women of the District of Columbia, and of laying emphasis upon college education for women, 'The College Woman's Club of Washington' is hereby organized."

Two hundred and fifty alumnae and ex-students representative of about forty women's colleges and co-educational universities, laid the foundation of the third woman's university club in the United States by voting unanimously in favor of the above preamble at the close of a function unique in the history of Washington's social events. Boston's College Woman's Club and New York's Woman's University Club are the only two kindred organizations in the country. Mrs. Thomas W. Sidwell was elected to lead the movement for the definite organization of the club.

Saturday night's gathering was the result of the efforts of a small committee of local college women, who for weeks past have been organizing the movement for a local club and who brought matters to a head by bringing together a representative body of Washington's university women at a reception and banquet at Rauscher's, followed by addresses from women of noted intellectual attainments. The credit for the success of the dinner was due in large measure to the untiring efforts of the Columbian Women, under the leadership of their president, Miss Emma H. Turner.

The principal speakers of the evening were Miss Alice C. Fletcher, a fellow of Harvard and famed authoropologist; Miss Grace Lincoln Temple, of Boston Museum of Art; Miss Harriet Stratton Ellis, dean of women at George Washington University; Miss Frances G. Davenport, of Radcliffe and Chicago; Mrs. George Otis Smith, of Colby, wife of the director of the United States Geological Survey; and Mrs. Karl P. Kellerman, of Cornell. Miss Emma H. Turner, of Franklin and George Washington University, president of the Columbian Women, officiated as toastmistress. College spirit prevailed throughout the evening, each course being punctuated by an alma mater song from a group representing some college of university. Nor was the college spirit lacking in the alumnae of our own university, notwithstanding the fact that they had no college songs wherewith to voice their enthusiasm.

At the conclusion of the banquet it was decided that the membership of the club consist of two classes, voting members who are to be alumnae or two-year students of women's colleges, and associate members, who will be students of less than two years, and professional women.

Y. W. C. A. LUNCH.

A lunch for the Y. W. C. A. is to be held in West Hall on Friday, April 26th, from 12.30 to 1.30. Come to the lunch and bring your friends.

BEN GREET PLAYERS IN EVERYMAN.

An exceptional opportunity will be given to those who love the best to see the celebrated Ben Greet Players in "Everyman," at Continental Hall on Monday evening, April 29th, at 8.30 o'clock. It is a benefit performance for the Prisoners' Aid and City Missionary Work.

This performance and "Much Ado About Nothing," the following night, are the only appearances of the Players in this city, and both are exceptional opportunities.

Edward Everett Hale says of "Everyman":

"The performance of a miracle play by an English company in our different cities suggests a great deal to those interested in religious education. The performance is dignified, serious, and by the real purpose of those leaders of the people who contrived such performances in the 'Dark Ages.' The attendants at these performances are better men and better women for attending."

CHI OMEGA ENTERTAINS.

On the seventeenth of April the Phi Alpha Chapter of Chi Omega entertained at a dance at the home of Miss Effie Baker in honor of Gamma Eta Chapter of Delta Tau Delta. The dancing rooms were beautifully decorated in Delta Tau and Chi Omega pennants and pansies and white carnations were the flowers of the evening.

THE SPECIAL MEETING.

There are two reasons why the Fred B. Smith meeting announced elsewhere in this issue should be of interest to the student body. The first is that the speaker is to be Fred B. Smith; the second is that it is a George Washington University meeting.

Those who heard Mr. Smith at the Y. M. C. A. dinner on his last visit to Washington do not need to be told what the first point means. In fact there are very few in Washington who have not at least heard of his wonderful ability as a speaker to men.

But it is the second point which should have particular weight with all University students. This is a University meeting, the first of its kind ever held and every University man should support it. The honor of the University requires that Mr. Smith receive a hearty welcome.

And so, don't forget Monday, April 29th, at 8 p. m., in University Hall.

SIGMA KAPPA GIVES OUTING.

A strawride was given under the auspices of the young ladies of Sigma Kappa on Tuesday evening, April 16th. The party took the Falls Church cars at Rosslyn, Va., and went out to Falls Church, where two wagons packed with straw were awaiting the crowd. After all had "gotten aboard" a ride of about five miles was taken to the country home of Miss Alden near Dunnloring, Va. After dancing several numbers to the music of the many "mouth organs," played in "ye olden style," the lunch boxes were opened, and all the good things that girls know how to fix up for picnics and strawrides were very generously handed around and soon disposed of. The party made the return trip in the same manner as the outgoing, and the songs and George Washington yells, we are sure, made many a country follower of Franklin's rule of life sit up and take notice of the party passing along the road. The party included the following: Misses Grace Alden, Ruth Alden, Grace Barbour, Alice Barbour, Katherine Harrington, Mayme Harrington; Rodmer, Greenwood, Greene, Harnden and Hurley, and Messrs. Alden, Gates, Hough, Wilson, Seiler, Poole, Linkins, Stonebraker, Webster, Schreiber, Newhall and Curl. Mrs. Alden chaperoned.

ENOSINIAN TALKS FOOTBALL.

The horrors of that bloody sport, intercollegiate football, were set forth in glowing colors at the meeting of the Enosinian Society last Friday night. The fact that the judges and the society did not see it their way was not the fault of the affirmative speakers, Miss Ridout and Messrs. Brown and Lamb, but due rather to the able manner in which Miss Alexander Mr. Rhee and Mr. Berry upheld the negative.

As the Society's president, Mr. Brown, is to address the French Club on Friday, May 3d, it was decided that Enosinian's next meeting should be held on Thursday, May 2d.

Unless something more happens the debate between Enosinian and Needham will be held tonight, April 25th, in University Hall.

TRINITY, 9: GEORGE WASHINGTON, 8.

In a game in which the Varsity played as good ball as was ever seen on Van Ness Field, up to the sixth inning, Trinity won out by a close score last Saturday. Carr was in the box and although he found the visitors heavy hitters, they were not able to send more than one across home plate for the first five innings because of the good work behind him. On the other hand Lane proved an unsolvable puzzle to our best hitters, only a single hit being registered up to that time.

In the sixth both teams went up into the air and it was simply a question of which would go the higher, and the home team went them one better. Doyle and Senior were there as usual with the stick and took two each; the field work of these was also fine. Orrison and Carr played their positions better than has been done in any other game on the home grounds. The visitors were as good a lot of players as have been here this season and seem to be born ball players, and are the sort of college men that we would like to meet with oftener.

The score:

Trinity . . . 1 0 0 0 0 2 3 3—9
Geo. Wash . . 0 0 0 0 0 2 3 3—8

COLUMBIAN-NEEDHAM DEBATE.

The third inter-society debate will be held in University Hall on Wednesday evening, May 1st. The subject for debate is: "Resolved, That the United States Government should prohibit the transportation, by carriers of interstate commerce of the products of mines and factories employing child labor (constitutionality waived).

The affirmative will be asserted by the Columbia team, A. J. Heimbeck, R. I. Moore, and C. A. Miller; the Needham team consists of M. W. Patterson, H. C. Cooke, and H. J. Rowe.

MEDICAL.

The Medical Association of the District of Columbia, at a recent meeting, elected Dean Phillips delegate to the Council of Education, which meets in Chicago, April 29, 1907.

J. B. Lampkin class '07—has been at his home in Georgia for the past two weeks suffering from a nervous breakdown.

The Senior Class was the guest of the George Washington University Medical Association April 20. Three interesting papers were presented to the Society by Drs. A. B. Hooe, Francis Hagner and A. T. Franz. These papers were along lines recently studied by the fourth year class. After a full discussion of the subjects, the Association turned all attention to the banquet room, where a lunch was served, ending with toasts and a smoker.

Dr. Wayne F. Cowan—1905—has been selected resident physician at Garfield Hospital. He had just completed his term as interne in that hospital and started his practice in Wisconsin when he was called back to his new position.

DENTAL.

Mr. Shea is back again at his chair in the Infirmary after his strenuous experience of the past ten days with the baseball team.

Mr. Jackson has sent his family on to New York to await his coming after graduation. He is now residing with Mr. Allen on M Street, N. W.

Dean Lewis is suffering from a sore throat and a cold. When he mentioned this fact to the boys in the Infirmary Saturday afternoon, we insisted upon his postponing his lecture until his throat was better. It is dangerously near commencement time, and we want him to be in good speaking trim for the awarding of diplomas.

Professor Thompson has concluded his lectures on Operative Dentistry and will continue quizzing the senior class until examination time.

The members of the senior class are busy these evenings finishing up their specimen work which it is expected will be turned in by the first of May.

Professor Walton, during one of his recent interesting talks on the practice of Orthodontia, complimented the class on their able recitation in this difficult subject and stated that it was a source of gratification for him to know that the boys were reading up on the subject. His remarks were received with considerable enthusiasm.

FRED B. SMITH

FRED B. SMITH MEETING.

For the first time in the history of the University a mass meeting of the student body is to be held under the auspices of the George Washington Y. M. C. A. The speaker is Fred B. Smith, the date April 29th, the place University Hall and the admission FREE. If you are a man you are invited to come and bring a friend and if you have more than one, bring them all.

There will be others there besides yourself, however. Commissioner Macfarland and Mr. J. B. Lerner have signified their intention of being present and Frederick Butler and others will supply music.

So come along and let's show Mr. Smith what George Washington spirit is like when it really gets loose.

CELEBRATION OF THE CLASSICAL CLUB.

of preservation. Indeed, the outer wall is much better preserved than that of any other amphitheatre in Italy or France. There, too, is the Maison-Carree, one of the finest and best preserved Roman temples in the world; a part of the old Roman baths, the so-called Temple of Diana, the Tour Magne and the Gate of Augustus.

"The Pont du Gard is part of a great aqueduct which once carried water 25 miles to the ancient city of Nimes. This part, which strides across the river Gardon, is about 880 feet long and 160 feet high. It is composed of three rows of arches, the lowest tier of 6, the second of 11 and the third of 35.

"At Orange there is a great triumphal arch and an enormous theatre. The arch is 68 feet high, 65 feet wide and 25 feet deep. It is probably one of the oldest triumphal arches known. It certainly is one of the most richly and profusely decorated, and, withal, one of the best preserved. The theatre is unique among the ancient theatres of Europe in that its stage wall is well preserved. The facade is 335 feet long and 120 feet high. The interior shows clearly that the theatre once had a sloping roof of timber over the stage. Since 1894 it has been made a national monument, and the serious work of restoration has been steadily going on. Since that time, too, some notable representations of classical plays have been given there, and the place promises to be some day a place of pilgrimage for lovers of the drama, just as Baireuth is a place of pilgrimage for worshippers of Wagner."

NEEDHAM PICKS DEBATING TEAM.

The principal feature at the last meeting of the Needham Debating Society was the final contest for the selection of a team to represent the society in the third inter-society debate. The successful contestants were M. W. Patterson, H. C. Cooke and H. J. Rowe, with G. B. Jones as alternate. All of the members of the team have had considerable experience in debates and two of the members have previously participated in inter-society debates.

Final arrangements were made for the Needham-Enosinian debate, which will be held Thursday evening, April 25th. Messrs. Kennedy, Ambrose and Jenson will represent the Needham, with Mr. Mark Hall as alternate.
